

Sharon Bramante is the Associate University Minister at Regis University in Denver Co. She earned an M.A. in Theology from the Jesuits' John Carroll University in Ohio and first connected with the Jesuits over 25 years ago as a volunteer at Holy Rosary Mission/Red Cloud Indian School in Pine Ridge, SD. She holds a certificate in spiritual direction from Manresa Jesuit Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills, MI. Over the last fifteen years she has given retreats and workshops at various Jesuit Retreat Houses, Jesuit Universities, and as a Newman Campus Minister at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, OH. Sharon is excited to share her passions for social justice, Ignatian spirituality, interfaith dialogue and remains dedicated to living a life in solidarity with those on the margins of society, caring for creation, and sharing the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius Loyola with Christians of all ages. Sharon and her husband, Andy, have six children and three grandchildren.
