

Father Jeff Putthoff, SJ, has been a Jesuit for over 30 years and spent nearly 20 years working with youth in Camden, NJ, to help them get back into school. He founded the nationally known Hopeworks which helps young women and men with high-tech training along with education in basic skills such as literacy.

Jeff is currently on sabbatical, working on a master's degree in Organizational Management at the University of Pennsylvania and has been directing and preaching retreats for over 20 years.